

What matters most when it comes to Traumatic Physical Injuries?

ICHOM - an international non-profit organization that aims to improve global healthcare - is developing a Set of outcomes most important to people with traumatic injuries. A Working Group (WG) of globally diverse multidisciplinary experts consisting of providers, researchers, and those with lived experience has identified outcomes to be included in our recommendation.

To explore whether these outcomes are meaningful and capture what people with lived experience find most important, we invite you to complete the validation survey which intends to capture your thoughts on the level of importance of each identified outcome. The results of this survey will be used to guide the WG's final recommendations.

Provide us with your feedback to improve the quality of care today!

Validation Survey	Time One-time commitment of 10 – 15 minutes	Qualifications <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Must be an adult (age of majority or greater) ● Interested in sharing your opinions about what really matters when it comes to traumatic injuries ● Be an adult with lived experience of traumatic injuries ● Able to participate in an online survey
--------------------------	--	---

Please note that neither identifiable nor personal information will be collected in the survey.

If you are interested in taking part in this survey, please follow the link to complete the survey:

https://ichom.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_5A5eV7jbOSsQ11E

If you have any questions or concerns please contact ICHOM Project Manager, Umanga de Silva, at u.desilva@ichom.org. If this is not relevant to you, but you know of family members or friends who may be interested in helping, please feel free to pass this information along.

Thank you!

